What People Are Saying

“Teaching Unity is a high, waving banner being raised in the name of the oneness of mankind – not optional learning, but the very path of human destiny.”

James Williams
Former Executive Producer of “The World Today” a PBS affiliate international affairs program

“Your magnificent book should be adopted throughout the United States. The content, artwork, handouts, music, craft projects, and plans for a camp are exceptional. Warmest congratulations on this important contribution to bringing about the unity of mankind.”

Judge Dorothy W. Nelson
U.S. Federal Court of Appeals

“Dr. Randie Gottlieb’s 300-page book is a treasure trove of activities for parents, grandparents and teachers. I highly recommend it.”

Dr. Elizabeth L. Bowen, M.D.
Co-Representative to the United Nations International Society of Doctors
for the Environment

“This most welcome book includes clearly written, well organized, detailed lessons, children’s performances and retreats – all tested with students. Teaching Unity clearly hits its mark.”

Dr. Cynthia Rekdal, Exec. Dir.
Washington State Association for Multicultural Education

“I really love the way your teaching materials are organized. They are so practical. As a teacher it is wonderful to have all the pieces you need ready to pick up and teach. The worksheets are there, the art activities are there, and the games, all with really clear instructions. It is definitely a book that goes way beyond just theory and gives teachers the tools they actually need to create powerful learning experiences in their classrooms. Thank you so much for your efforts to create and promote these materials on a theme that is desperately needed in the world today.”
